

THE EQUINE INDUSTRY

The love affair between horses and the Commonwealth dates back to 1610 when the first horses arrived in Jamestown. Since then, Virginia's equine industry has continued to grow and flourish. Today, live racing, horse farms, breeders and others contribute to making Virginia one of the largest equine states in the nation. From Thoroughbred race horses to steeplechase jumpers, swimming ponies to bucking broncos, Virginia is for horse lovers.

CURRENT STATE OF THE INDUSTRY IN VIRGINIA

Caring, grooming, feeding, transporting, training, sheltering and providing equipment and land for more than 215,000 horses (up 26 percent from the 170,000 horses accounted for in the VASS survey, completed in 2001) has created a major industry within the Commonwealth. Horse owners in Virginia spend an average of $3,642 per horse/per year, which equals approximately $783 million each year in direct expenditures supporting horses in the state. In addition, equine-related activities totaled nearly $35 million in 2006. Travel and lodging, advertising and professional fees, among other miscellaneous expenses, are included in this category.

The total value of all equine in Virginia in 2006 was $1.65 billion, up 13 percent from 2001. Cash receipts for horses sold in Virginia totaled more than $107 million in 2006, making equine-based activities the sixth largest agricultural commodity in Virginia. About 66 percent of the total sales occurred in Northern Virginia. (Source: 2006 Virginia Agricultural Statistics Service [VASS].)

Quarter Horses and Thoroughbreds are the two leading breeds at 49,000 and 30,900 heads, respectively.

Throughout the state, equine inventory by breed is as follows:

- Quarter Horses – 23 percent
- Thoroughbreds – 15 percent
- Tennessee Walkers – 7 percent
- Mules/Donkeys – 6 percent
- Arabians – 6 percent
- Paint/Pinto – 5 percent
- All other equine – 38 percent

COMPONENTS OF THE EQUINE INDUSTRY

The equine industry includes agriculture, breeding, racing and entertainment or recreation. It is a diverse industry that supports a wide variety of activities in all regions of the state, combining the primarily rural activities of breeding, training, maintaining and riding horses with the more urban activities of operating racetracks, satellite wagering facilities, horse shows and public sales.

AGRICULTURE

There were 15,600 equine sold in Virginia in 2006, representing a sales value of more than $107 million. The total value of all equine in the state totals $1.65 billion, or an average of $7,697 per equine. (Source: 2006 VASS)

BREEDING

Breeding comprises a large part of the industry in the state with a total of $783 million spent caring for horses in 2006.

The top four breeds bred in the state include:

- Quarter Horses – 49,000 horses
- Thoroughbreds – 30,900 horses
- Arabian and Anglo Arabian – 13,200 horses
- Tennessee Walker – 15,500 horses

The top five expenses for equine owners/operators include:

- Feed and Bedding Expenses – $99,648,000
- Equipment Purchases – $92,007,000
- Equine Purchases – $63,638,000
- Veterinarian/ Health – $61,405,000
- Boarding – $42,462,000

HORSE FARMS

There are approximately 41,000 equine operations/farms within the Commonwealth. Virginia equine operators spent a total of nearly $783 million on expenses, including equipment purchases, paid labor, feed and bedding, equine purchases and capital improvements.

The following are the top five counties where the highest numbers of horses reside in Virginia:

- Loudoun – 15,500 horses
- Fauquier – 14,800 horses
- Albemarle – 8,400 horses
- Augusta – 6,000 horses
- Bedford – 6,200 horses

PARI-MUTUEL WAGERING

Horse racing has been popular since Colonial times when one-on-one races took place down village streets, country lanes and across level pastures. Some historians claim that the first American Quarter Horse races were held in Enrico County (now Henrico County), Virginia as early as 1674.

Since pari-mutuel wagering began in Virginia, the total amount of money wagered has passed $1.5 billion. In addition, during the four years since advance deposit account wagering was introduced in Virginia, it has generated an additional $75 million.

In 2007, Thoroughbred racing generated the most handle – $162,409,236, an increase of more than four percent over 2006. The total handle for Standardbred racing was $38,206,725 in wagering, an increase of 1.8 percent over 2006.

Pari-mutuel wagering has made direct financial contributions since 1997 to the state, and the following cities/counties/special interest groups:

- New Kent County
- Henrico County
- Scott County
- Richmond
- Chesapeake
- Hampton
- Albemarle
- Vinton

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: WHAT IS THE ROLE OF THE VIRGINIA RACING COMMISSION?

A: The Virginia Racing Commission oversees racing and pari-mutuel wagering in Virginia. The Commission works to increase awareness of the horse industry in the Commonwealth and to promote horses as a major agricultural commodity.

Q: WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF RACING?

A: Thoroughbred Racing – Thoroughbred horse racing is the main form of horse racing throughout the world. Thoroughbred horses are a breed known for their speed and endurance, but they also have proven to be quite adept at other sports such as hunting, jumping and polo and are frequently used to upgrade breeds of horses or to create entirely new breeds.

Harness Racing – Harness racing is an offshoot of traditional horse racing. In harness racing, the horses do not typically gallop with a rider on their backs but are tethered to a light cart, which a jockey guides around an oval racetrack. The types of horses that harness race are called Standardbreds, trotters or pacers. They are specifically bred for this type of sport.

Steeplechase Racing – The steeplechase is a form of horse racing in which the course typically consists of open country and a number of obstacles such as fence jumping or traversing ditches. Steeplechase racing also is used for fox hunters to test the speed of their mounts while racing cross country. During its meet season, Colonial Downs hosts several steeplechase races on its Secretariat Turf Course. When steeplechase racing first began in England, church steeples were the tallest and most prominent landmarks and were used to mark the finish line of the event – hence the name “steeplechase,” which actually means “chase to the steeple.”

Q: WHERE CAN I SEE LIVE RACING IN VIRGINIA?

A: Live racing at Colonial Downs begins with the Thoroughbred season on June 9 and continues through August 6. Harness racing begins September 12 and continues through November 5 at Colonial Downs. Other popular racing events throughout the year include the Foxfield Races (Steeplechase) in Charlottesville, Va.; the Strawberry Hill Races (Steeplechase), the Virginia Derby and the Colonial Cup (Thoroughbred) in New Kent, Va. at Colonial Downs; and the Gold Cup (Steeplechase) at Great Meadow in The Plains, Va. You also can visit one of the state’s nine satellite wagering facilities and view live racing from across the country throughout the year.

Q: WHAT IS A SATELLITE WAGERING FACILITY?

A: A satellite wagering facility, also known as an off-track betting parlor (OTB), is a legal wagering facility at a location other than the track where the race is being held. OTB's must conform to the state's rules and regulations concerning gambling.

Q: WHAT IS THERE TO DO AT A SATELLITE WAGERING FACILITY?

A: Virginia's nine satellite wagering facilities offer visitors the opportunity to view all types of live racing year-round in a clean and friendly environment. Races from Delaware Park, Colonial Downs and other tracks in the region are simulcast throughout the day. Food and beverages are available at all nine facilities. VIP rooms are available at some of Virginia's facilities, and most have the capability to cater events and host special race days for fans.

Q: HOW CAN I LEARN ABOUT WAGERING ON HORSE RACES?

A: You can learn about wagering on horses by visiting www.colonialdowns.com and visiting the racing education section of the Web site. The site explains a variety of options on different wagers you can choose when wagering at the track and will walk you through the proper terminology and how to place a bet at the track. Staff and employees at the satellite wagering facility and the track are always willing and able to help you learn or understand the wagering process, and tip sheets and instructional materials also are available.

Each time you wager at the track or at a satellite wagering facility, the money goes into what is called a "handle." A handle is the aggregate sum of all money wagered during a race, season or year.

Q: WHY IS THE WAGERING HANDLE IMPORTANT TO VIRGINIA'S ECONOMY?

A: The wagering handle is important to Virginia's economy because one percent of the total handle goes directly back to the Breeders' Fund to help sustain a native racing industry in the Commonwealth. This fund enables those involved with the industry to provide for the breeding and training of Virginia's race horses.

The Commonwealth receives two percent of each wager placed at Colonial Downs and its satellite wagering facilities. In addition, the Commonwealth receives .5 percent of each telephone wager. The Virginia Racing Commission uses these funds to administer, regulate (including drug testing at the racetrack) and promote horse racing and breeding. Most of the tax revenues pay for the operation of the Virginia Racing Commission, but nearly $6.6 million has gone to the state's General Fund since 1996.

Q: WHAT IS THE VIRGINIA BREEDERS' FUND?

A: The Virginia Breeders' Fund is a financial incentive program to encourage Thoroughbred breeding in the Commonwealth. It is funded by a one percent take-out of all live and simulcast pari-mutuel wagering conducted in the Commonwealth. Payments to the Virginia Breeders' Fund exceed $1 million annually.

The daily activities and administrative functions of the Virginia Breeders' Fund are handled by the Virginia Thoroughbred Association (VTA) and the Virginia Harness Horse Association under the direction of the Virginia Racing Commission.

The purpose of the Fund is:

- To recognize Virginia-bred horses through incentive awards.
- To promote breeding and further develop the racing industry.

Only horses residing in Virginia that are registered with the respective breed organizations are eligible to earn incentives in the form of Breeder, Owner or Stallion Owner Awards.

Q: WHAT ARE SOME CAREERS/JOB IN THE EQUINE INDUSTRY?

A: The following are some jobs that will allow you day-to-day contact with horses in the equine industry: Jockey, Veterinarian, Rehabilitation Therapist, Riding Instructor, Veterinary Technician, Bloodstock Agent, Rodeo Professional, Stallion Manager, Trainer, Farm Manager, Breeder, Hot Walker, Farrier, Steward and Driver (harness racing) among others.
